Tre Lovell has been noted among the elite trial lawyers in the nation, having been honored by The National Law Journal as one of the Top 50 Litigation Trailblazers for 2014, and recognized among the top 1% of attorneys in the country as a litigator through such esteemed organizations as the American Academy of Trial Attorneys, Multi-Million Dollar Advocates Forum and Rue's Best Attorneys of America. In addition, Mr. Lovell was recently awarded the 2014 Litigator Award by the Trial Lawyers Board of Regents for extraordinary litigation achievement, an award given to less than 1% of attorneys in the U.S. and to approximately only 12 firms per state each year. The Lovell Firm was further profiled in Forbes Magazine in September 2014.

With more than 20 years of experience, Tre Lovell practices in most areas of business law, corporate law, entertainment law, intellectual property law, employment law and general civil litigation. His clientele varies from individuals to high-profile companies in Los Angeles and beyond. Mr. Lovell's aggressive and relentless style of representation for his clients, in both their litigation and transactional interests, has garnered him an exceptional reputation within the legal and business communities.

Mr. Lovell has been involved in many high profile and complex litigation cases. For example, he represented over 140 plaintiffs in a fraud/ponzi scheme that spanned 5 countries and involved over 23 defendants (Aleo, et.al. v. Elliott, et.al.). In addition, Mr. Lovell represented Daun Slagle in her defamation case against A&E and Lifetime Entertainment that reached the national media and was featured on Fox News. Further cases include Martinez v. MGM, Scott v. 3d Realms, John Doe v. AFM (where Mr. Lovell represented over 50 musicians facing expulsion from the American Federation of Musician's union for alleged violations) and Lomax v. Apple, Inc., Google, Inc. and Amazon.com, Inc., et.al.

Mr. Lovell received his J.D. from McGeorge School of Law in 1992. He is licensed in both California and Nevada. In addition to practicing law, he is a national gold medal champion and former black belt instructor in the martial arts.
